Square One Publishers, United States, 2001. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . This book usually ship within 10-15 business days and we will endeavor to dispatch orders quicker than this where possible. Brand New Book. All casinos set up their games with one goal in mind--to take your money and make it theirs. But you already know that. What you may not know is that by understanding how to avoid their carefully designed traps, you can greatly decrease their odds of winning. More important, by learning proven systems of play, you can greatly increase your own chance of winning. In other words, you can beat the casinos at their own game. Beating the Casinos at Their Own Game is an easy-to-follow guide to winning at casino games. For each game, from roulette to craps and more, gambling expert Peter Svoboda first clearly explains the rules of play so that the novice gambler as well as the veteran can enter a casino with confidence. He then details the smart way to approach that game, including unique strategies that will increase your chance of winning. The author demonstrates which games offer the best odds, and how you can make the most calculated wagers. You ll even learn how to manage your gambling allowance--an important key to gambling success. With the ever-increasing popularity of Las Vegas; Atlantic City; and casinos on cruise ships, reservations, and more, it s clear that the gambling industry is taking the country by storm. It is also clear that casinos are reaping profits simply because most gamblers don t have the right strategies they need to succeed. Now Peter Svoboda tells you not only how to get in on the action, but also how to cash in on the profits and walk away a winner.
