Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Food Composition and Human Ills, Mental and Physiological: Facts and Figures for Family Use Truth is that which can be demonstrated, theoretically and practically, chemically or mechanically, physically or physiologically. So long as any proposition is merely speculative, as are religion and old-school medicine, it is a waste of time to argue, and it is a crime to accept them on the brazenness of their assertions. The greatest of all calamities to the human race was the promulgation and acceptance of a substitution of artificial for natural standards in education and practice, because it retarded progress and outraged intelligence. Religions have caused more insanity and crime than all other factors combined Founded on superstition and credulity, armed with the bribe of a heaven and the threat of hell, they trafficked in forgiveness of sins. The inconsistency and unnaturalness of putting premiums on crime is so apparent, to all who are not afraid to think, that it is pitiful. Not only history, but daily events, physical and physiological, afford ample proofs of the facts stated. Out of religious dogmas came the medical ones, which are as dangerous to physiological conditions as the others are to mental ones. From prayers to offering sacrifices; from miracles to murder of those who refused to believe in them was an easy step in religion. From herbs and bleeding to mercury and vaccination is the analog in medicine. Is it anything remarkable that such baneful seed produced the awful crop, political autocracy and its complement, bolshevikism?
